HOUSE BILL NO. 4028

Introduced by REPRESENTATIVE DOY C. LEACHON

EXPLANATORY NOTE

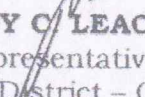

This bill seeks to rationalize the penalties for lascivious conduct as defined and punished under Republic Act No. 7610, as amended, otherwise known as the "Special Protection of Children Against Child Abuse, Exploitation and Discrimination Act". As the law currently stands, the penalty for lascivious conduct when the victim is under twelve (12) years of age is reclusion temporal in its medium period, while the penalty for lascivious conduct when the victim is at least twelve (12) years of age but under eighteen (18) years of age is reclusion temporal in its medium period to reclusion perpetua. This creates an unintended disparity in the penalties depending on the age of the victim despite the clear intent of the law to create a stronger deterrence against child abuse and to provide for special protection to children from such abuse.

In its recent decision in the case of People vs. Salvador Tulagan (G.R. No. 227363, March 12, 2019), the Supreme Court – through the ponencia of Justice Diosdado Peralta – noted:

"Over and above the foregoing, We observe that despite the clear intent of R.A. No. 7610 to provide for stronger deterrence and special protection against child abuse, the penalty for violation of Section 5(b) of R.A. No. 7610 [reclusion temporal medium] when the victim is under 12 years old is lower compared to the penalty [reclusion temporal medium to reclusion perpetua] when the victim is 12 years old and below 18. xxx xxx xxx Thus, a corrective legislation is the proper remedy to address the noted incongruent penalties for acts of lasciviousness committed against a child."

Given the lower penalty to offenders when the victim is under twelve (12) years of age, such recommendation to amend R.A. 7610 to effectively carry out the intent of the law to provide for stronger deterrence and special protection against child abuse is well taken.

For these reasons, the urgent passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
